

1st Quarter Report to ADDPC for grant funding Education Training for Abuse Prevention September 30, 2022

Part 1: Narrative Section

1. Provide a brief summary, no more than one page, of the progress to date, numbers of participants served, and the role of partners in your project.

The Arizona Coalition to End Sexual and Domestic Violence (ACESDV) is utilizing these grant funds to offer continued training to service providers for people with intellectual and developmental disabilities (I/DD). The goal of this project is to reduce sexual assault among people with I/DD and increase knowledge among service providers on identifying, intervening, and reporting on sexual assault among people with I/DD. For this granting period, ACESDV conducted the following activities:

1. Modified our outreach materials to promote trainings among I/DD service providers.
 2. Scheduled two virtual and one in-person training. The training is titled “Serving Sexual Violence Survivors in the I/DD Community” and is scheduled for November 9, 2022; January 18, 2023; and March 21, 2023.
 3. Updated curriculum to clarify vocabulary and deepen trainee understanding of the learning objectives.
 4. Distributed training recruitment materials to our listservs and community. We will continue to conduct outreach and recruitment for these trainings in the coming months.
2. In more detail, provide a status update on the Implementation plan. If tasks have not been met by your deadline, provide an explanation on what changes were or will be made.

We are on-schedule for the grant activities and will offer three trainings in the coming months. We additionally have conducted outreach to the Southwest

Indigenous Women's Coalition and during our monthly Rural Women's Health Network meetings. We have prioritized rural and Indigenous communities for this grant period due to the community communicating high need in rural Arizona.

3. Evaluation Section: Describe your evaluation method for collecting and reporting data that is required. Provide a copy of any survey/questionnaire that is used to capture data (one time only).

ACESDV collects demographic information about our trainees in our online training registration forms. ACESDV uses a self-knowledge pre-post assessment model recommended by the CDC

(https://www.cdc.gov/training/development/evaluate/training-effectiveness.html#anchor_questions) to assess the percentage of knowledge gained by participants. The survey is based on a Likert model that is used by our training team to evaluate program effectiveness. This assessment asks questions related to the basis of knowledge and specific demographic represented by participants. The ACESDV sexual violence response team provides the training and emails the pre/post tests and training evaluations to training attendees. Data for our training as well as registrant demographics are collected in Coalition Manager, a cloud-based relational database. Collected data is analyzed by the ACESDV Director of Sexual Violence Initiatives and collected data is used for grant reporting, to inform the Coalition of current community needs, and for program quality improvement. The training evaluation, pre/post test, and recruitment materials are provided in the attached documents.

4. Describe any unintended barriers encountered and how any barrier is addressed.

The I/DD and service provider communities in both rural and urban Arizona are vulnerable populations. As such, ACESDV seeks to accommodate all training attendees through flexible provision of training, while seeking to maintain adult education best practices. While in-person trainings result in increased self-reported learning and networking opportunities, providing virtual training allows attendees to travel less and decreases their costs and time constraints. ACESDV is prepared to adapt to whatever the needs of the learners might be.

5. Share any success/personal stories from the participants in the program. You must share one story by the end of the contract period that shows the personal impact of your program on the participant's life.

ACESDV will conduct our trainings starting in November 2022 and we will be able to provide training attendee feedback and comments after that time.

6. Are there any contract amendments to request?

We do not have any contract amendments to request.

7. Is financial expense and match reporting on track?

All expense and match reporting are on track.
