

Arizona Developmental Disabilities Planning Council

Executive Director Succession Plan

Introduction

A change in executive leadership is inevitable for all organizations. An executive transition is a time of both risk and opportunity. It is a period in an organization's history when Council members and/or the Chair must increase their level of engagement. It is also a time when some may seek assurance of the organization's viability and long-term sustainability.

A succession plan (Plan) for the Executive Director position is a routine risk management and sustainability planning tool. The Plan ensures organizational sustainability by providing a proactive, orderly plan for executive leadership transitions.

To that end, the Arizona Developmental Disabilities Planning Council (ADDPC) is adopting this succession plan for purposes of:

- Establishing principles, role clarity and plans to support positive leadership transitions that foster good endings and beginnings with departing and arriving leaders and build organizational capacity when a planned or unplanned executive leadership change occurs.

The Council Chair shall be responsible for overseeing the implementation of this plan and any related plans, and for ensuring that the plan is reviewed at least annually and updated as needed.

In the event of a planned or unplanned leadership transition, the Council shall immediately appoint a special Transition Committee which shall plan and manage the transition, including the search for a new Executive Director.

Guiding Principles

- The Arizona Developmental Disabilities Planning Council is open to and will consider both internal and external candidates when filling the Executive Director position. A competitive search will be conducted unless the Board concludes that a current staff member is appropriate and available for the job.
- In organizations such as Arizona Developmental Disabilities Planning Council, the Executive Director's position is often shaped by the incumbent's talents and areas of specialized interest. That person's departure might necessitate other organizational changes including the creation of new positions and/or realignment of current positions.
- The preeminent goal of a transition to a new Executive Director is maintaining continuity of Arizona Developmental Disabilities' Planning Council mission-related work and current strategic plan.
- In conducting the executive search and hiring process for the Executive Director position, the Arizona Developmental Disabilities Planning Council has agreed to follow the job posting and recruitment procedure of the Councils' designated state agency, as applicable to this specific situation. Those procedures may include training of the interview team on recruitment and interview process.

Lines of Authority

1. The selection of the Executive Director is the responsibility of the Council.
2. The current Executive Director has the responsibility to continuously identify, encourage, and help to develop senior management within the organization who are qualified to meet future leadership needs.
3. The current Executive Director has the responsibility to plan for the orderly transition of all ADDPC staff.

Emergency Backup Plan

1. Related to the position of Executive Director: To be prepared at all times for a leadership transition, the organization shall maintain an up-to-date Emergency Backup Plan with guidelines for the planned or unplanned, short-term and long-term absence of the Executive Director. This plan is approved by the Executive Committee on behalf of the Council and should be reviewed annually.

Council Board Action in the Event of Vacancy in the Executive Director Position

1. Organizational Assessment: The Council shall take time to fairly assess the leadership needs of the organization before the search for a new Executive Director is conducted. The assessment shall include a review and update (if needed) of the organization's future directions and the current Executive Director position description. The assessment will be designed to help assure the selection of a qualified and capable leader who fits well with the organization's mission, vision, values, culture, goals, and objectives, and who has the necessary skills to lead the organization. The Transition Committee or Council will also determine an appropriate outreach strategy to recruit qualified applicants with skills necessary to carry out the organization's mission, vision, values, goals and objectives.
2. Option of appointing an Acting or Interim Executive Director: To assure the organization's operations are not interrupted while the Council assesses the leadership needs and recruits a new Executive Director, the Executive Committee may determine to appoint an Acting Executive Director from among ADDPC staff or hire an Interim Executive Director from outside the organization.
3. Duties of the Acting/Interim Executive Director: Among such duties will be to ensure that the organization continues to operate without disruption and that all organizational commitments previously made are appropriately executed, including but not limited to, grant and contract obligations, financial monitoring and reporting, program reports, speaking engagements, coordination and support for meetings of the Council and Committees, ensuring progress of the annual work plan and 5-year plan, fulfilling the duties of the Executive Order, and other obligations to funders and other stakeholders.
4. Simultaneous transitions for the Executive Director and ADDPC Staff Positions: Should the Transition Committee determine to appoint an Acting or Interim Executive Director from within, the Council may make other temporary appointments from among other staff, external hires, or whatever combination of those options best assures continuity in leadership and program success through the transition period and afterwards.

Preparation Time Frame for Replacement of the Executive Director

1. The optimal period for the Executive Director to announce his/her departure from that role – or proposed commencement of a new role in the organization – is at least six to twelve months before the date of departure.
2. The Council understands that the time required for successfully completing a planned leadership transition is approximately six to twelve months.

Role of the Outgoing Executive Director in Planned Transitions

The Transition Committee may also be given additional direction by the Executive Committee.

The Transition Committee will sunset upon completion of the onboarding process of the new Executive Director, expected to be on or before 90 days after the new Executive Director's start date.

3. The Transition Committee, or a subset of its members, will serve as the Interview Panel in accordance with Arizona's DES procedures.
